

University and College Pathways

Language. Culture. Adventure.

Boston is a premier university city in the world, with 75 colleges and universities in the general area. We have pathways to eight great programs for students of all age ranges. With a GEOS staff recommendation and completion of Advanced Levels at GEOS Boston, you can study for an Associate's, Master's or Certificate/Diploma.

GEOS Boston Now has Eight Pathways to:

Newman Preparatory High School

www.newmanboston.org

Newman Prep is a private high school in Boston. Most students are local, but recently, they have been increasing their international student population. Many students from this school have gone to reputable universities such as Harvard, Boston University, Boston College, etc.

Bunker Hill Community College (BHCC)

www.bhcc.mass.edu

Bunker Hill Community College is a two-year college that offers Associate's Degrees. It has excellent resources for counseling international students. They have their own pathways to four-year universities in Boston, and this is an excellent choice for students who are not yet ready for the large university environment, but who have a long-term goal of joining a university program. It is a public school, so it is inexpensive compared to other local schools.

Gibbs College

www.gibbsboston.edu

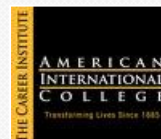

Gibbs is an 18-month career preparation college that offers an Associate's Degree in many of the fields that are in demand in the Boston area, including accounting, medical assisting, and legal work. Students are placed in internships after graduation, and may be eligible to work in the U.S. after graduation.

American International College

www.aic.edu

American International College offers both Bachelor's and Master's degree programs in a wide range of subjects to allow students to compete in global marketplace. The College was founded in 1885, and is located in Springfield, Massachusetts, which is 1.5 hours from Boston and 3 hours from New York City.

University and College Pathways

Language. Culture. Adventure.

Bay State College
www.baystate.edu

Bay State College offers 2-year Associate's and 4-year Bachelor's programs to students in a small, caring school environment. After 2 years, students may choose to transfer from Bay State College to Suffolk University and other reputable university programs with a direct pathway program. They specialize in general studies, entertainment and fashion management.

Quincy College
www.quincycollege.edu

Quincy College is a two-year college that offers an Associate's Degree in many majors, such as Business, International Relations, Nursing, Education, etc. After graduating from Quincy College, counselors assist students to apply to a 4-year university or college.

Cambridge College
www.cambridgecollege.edu

Cambridge Colleges offer Master's and Certificate Programs to students who have already graduated from their universities. The most popular program at Cambridge College is Master of Management. Many students interested in business management choose this college.

Pine Manor College
www.pmc.edu

Pine Manor College is a four-year liberal arts college dedicated to preparing women for inclusive leadership and social responsibility in their workplaces, families and communities. Pine Manor College offers the Master of Fine Arts (M.F.A.) degree, the Bachelor of Arts (B.A.) degree, the Associate in Arts (A.A.) degree, and the Associate in Science (A.S.) degree.

Requirements for the pathways:

- Completion of the advanced level course at GEOS Boston (Level 6 or TOEFL preparation course)
- High School diploma (except for Newman Prep)
- Transcripts from previous schools

Our on-site college counselor, Zhanna, helps any student who is interested in any of these programs to join the schools, and is also available to help students research different options if necessary.

We at GEOS Boston help students with the application process and connect them with International College Advisors.